

Metabolic Biology

Overview

The Graduate Group in Metabolic Biology offers two graduate degrees, the MS and PhD. The Metabolic Biology program provides interdisciplinary training in the theory and techniques of molecular and biochemical metabolic studies of nutrients and phytochemicals in humans, and in mammals that serve as models for humans.

Undergraduate Program

There is no undergraduate program in Metabolic Biology.

Graduate Program

Metabolic Biology (<http://guide.berkeley.edu/archive/2014-15/graduate/degree-programs/metabolic-biology>) : MS, PhD