

Scandinavian

Overview

The Department of Scandinavian offers undergraduate and graduate instruction in the languages, cultures, and literatures of northern Europe. Languages taught are Danish, Finnish, Norwegian, Swedish, and Old Norse-Icelandic. Lower division Reading and Composition courses based on Scandinavian materials are also offered. Lower and upper division lecture courses, all based on readings in English and open to those without a knowledge of Nordic languages, cover a wide variety of topics. The undergraduate major involves a program integrating the study of Danish, Finnish, Norwegian, or Swedish language with important aspects of Scandinavian culture and literature, and an undergraduate minor is also available. The graduate program leads to the PhD.

The department also administers the Program in Celtic Studies, an interdisciplinary major where students may focus on the intersection of early Celtic and Scandinavian history, mythology and folklore. Majors in Celtic Studies also pursue study in modern and early forms of Irish, Welsh and Breton and early and modern literatures of Ireland and Wales.

Collections

Doe Library, the main research library on campus, has extensive holdings in the several areas of research that make up the field of Scandinavian Studies (literature, linguistics, history, folklore, film history, the social sciences, etc.). For more information about this collection, see the Doe Library website for the Berkeley Scandinavian Collection (http://www.lib.berkeley.edu/Collections/scandinavian_studies.html).

A smaller departmental collection, the Olof Lundberg Memorial Library, is located in 6337B Dwinelle Hall, adjacent to the current faculty offices. It is open to the public at certain times during the day that are determined at the beginning of each semester, but is not a lending library; its books must be used on site. The Lundberg library houses an extensive collection of over 13,000 volumes, ranging from medieval to modern history and literature. There is no on-line list of holdings, but there is a card catalog in the library itself. The Department also receives a daily or weekly newspaper from all three of the mainland Scandinavian countries. The librarian can be reached at (510) 643-2932, and the library schedule is posted on the library door (varies by semester).

The Barbro Osher Film and Video Collection is a research collection of over 250 Scandinavian film titles. The 35mm and 16mm films in the collection are housed at the Pacific Film Archive (<http://www.bampfa.berkeley.edu>) (PFA). The films stored at PFA can be searched by title in the GLADIS (<http://sunsite2.berkeley.edu:8000>) on-line library catalog. The remaining titles of the Osher Collection come in a variety of formats (DVD, laser disc, VHS and PAL video, 3/4" video) and are stored in the Lundberg Library. These may only be used on-site.
