

Environmental Design and Urbanism in Developing Countries

Minor

The undergraduate minor in environmental design and urbanism in developing countries serves students majoring in humanities, social sciences, and a variety of professional fields. The minor is intended to expose students to basic problems, cultural contexts, policy alternatives, and design solutions in the Third World.

There is no major program; students interested in pursuing this course of study at the major level should consider the BA in architecture program (<http://guide.berkeley.edu/archive/2016-17/undergraduate/degree-programs/architecture>).

Declaring the Minor

For the minor to be added to the student's transcript, they must file the CED Minor Completion form (http://www.ced.berkeley.edu/downloads/forms/academic/ced_minor-completion.pdf) with the Office of Undergraduate Advising in 250 Wurster Hall during the semester in which they complete their last class for the minor.

Other Major and Minors Offered by the Department of Architecture

Architecture (<http://guide.berkeley.edu/archive/2016-17/undergraduate/degree-programs/architecture>) (Major and Minor)

History of the Built Environment (<http://guide.berkeley.edu/archive/2016-17/undergraduate/degree-programs/history-built-environment>) (Minor only)

Social and Cultural Factors in Design (<http://guide.berkeley.edu/archive/2016-17/undergraduate/degree-programs/social-cultural-factors-environmental-design>) (Minor only)

Sustainable Design (<http://guide.berkeley.edu/archive/2016-17/undergraduate/degree-programs/sustainable-design>) (Minor only)

Students who have a strong interest in an area of study outside their major often decide to complete a minor program. These programs have set requirements and are noted officially on the transcript in the memoranda section, but they are not noted on diplomas.

General Guidelines

1. All courses used to fulfill minor requirements must be completed with a letter grade of C- or above.
2. Students must earn a 2.0 GPA in the upper division requirements for the minor.
3. Any course used in fulfillment of minor requirements may also be used to fulfill major and upper division CED non-major requirements.
4. Courses used to fulfill a breadth requirement may also be used to satisfy minor requirements.
5. Students may apply the non-CED version of a CED cross-listed course towards the minor.
6. Students may use up to two courses taken abroad to fulfill upper division minor requirements, with faculty approval of the individual courses.

- ¹ Graduate courses in subjects related to those on Lists 1 and 2 may be used as substitutes if approved by the faculty adviser.
- ² All International and Area Studies (IAS) courses including those in Middle Eastern Studies (M E STU), Latin American Studies (LATAMST), Peace and Conflict Studies (PACS), Development Studies (DEV STD), and Political Economy of Industrial Societies (POLECON) may be used as substitutes provided prior approval of the faculty minor adviser is granted. Please contact the staff adviser for more information.

Environmental Design and Urbanism in Developing Countries

ENV DES 1 Introduction to Environmental Design 3 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2018, Fall 2017, Summer 2017 8 Week Session
This course will teach anyone how to start to be a designer, not just of drawings and objects, but also buildings, landscapes, and urban spaces. And not just in isolation, but in the complex web of ecological and man-made systems which makes up our shifting environment. You will take from the course first-hand experience of drawing, measuring, and design — which form the basis of the professions of architecture, landscape architecture, and urban planning— and which culminate in a final design project in the course. The course is open to all undergraduate students. Introduction to Environmental Design: Read More [+]

Rules & Requirements

Credit Restrictions: Student will receive no credit for Environmental Design 1 after taking Environmental Design 4.

Repeat rules: Course may be repeated for credit.

Hours & Format

Fall and/or spring: 15 weeks - 3 hours of lecture and 2 hours of discussion per week

Summer: 8 weeks - 6 hours of lecture and 4 hours of discussion per week

ENV DES 2 Summer [IN]STITUTE in Environmental Design 1 Unit

Terms offered: Summer 2017 Second 6 Week Session, Summer 2016 10 Week Session, Summer 2016 Second 6 Week Session

The Summer [IN]STITUTE consists of four cohorts, each an introductory course for participants with no previous experience in environmental design: [IN]ARCH, [IN]ARCH ADV, [IN]CITY and [IN]LAND. Institute participants explore the methods and theories of the environmental design disciplines, experience the culture of design and planning studios, connect to faculty and practitioners, and build a portfolio for graduate school application. Each program includes a lecture series, a design or planning studio, a media seminar, and site visits. ENV DES R3B Reading and Composition in Energy, Society, and Environmental Design 4 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2017, Spring 2016, Spring 2015

This course will expose students to key literature that examines, primarily, the relationship between sustainability and environmental design disciplines. Our goal will be not only to investigate the central ideas that inform the design of sustainable landscapes, cities, and buildings, but also to understand how competing arguments are presented in writing. Satisfies the second half of the Reading and Composition Requirement. Reading and Composition in Energy, Society, and Environmental Design: Read More [+]

Rules & Requirements

Prerequisites: Previously passed an R_A course with a letter grade of C- or better. Previously passed an articulated R_A course with a letter grade of C- or better. ENV DES 4A Design and Activism 3 Units

Terms offered: Fall 2016, Fall 2015, Spring 2015

This course explores the relationships between design and activism, raising critical questions about what design is, and how designers serve as guardians of culture and as agents of change. Students will participate in "spontaneous acts of design activism" that address contemporary issues through the making of forms and space to reinvent relationships between people and their environments.

ENV DES 4B Global Cities 3 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2018, Spring 2017, Spring 2016

This study of cities is more important than ever; for the first time in history more people live in urban than rural areas, and cities will account for all of the world's population growth for at least the next half-century.

We will explore the challenges facing global cities in the 21st Century and expose students to some of the key texts, theories, and methods of inquiry that shape the built environment, from the human scale of home and community to the regional scale of the megacity.

ENV DES 4C Future Ecologies: Urban Design, Climate Adaptation, and Thermodynamics 3 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2018, Spring 2017, Spring 2016

This course is intended to provide students with an overview of current thinking about cities and their components (buildings, parks, streets) as ecological and cultural systems. It will provide an introduction to methods for investigating the dynamics of flows and relationships in the built environment and students will gain experience constructing their own narratives as ways of asking and answering questions about human habitat that could shape the future.

ENV DES 8 Disc*: Design & Innovation for Sustainable Cities 5 Units

Terms offered: Summer 2017 Second 6 Week Session, Summer 2016 10 Week Session, Summer 2016 Second 6 Week Session

Guided by UC Berkeley faculty, Bay Area urbanists, designers, makers, and entrepreneurs, Disc* students learn how to confront the most pressing challenges of global urbanization using innovative people-centered design. Through design and digital fabrication studio sessions, lectures and talks, demos and workshops, field work and site visits, students have the opportunity to develop and test their own creative ideas while working with some of the most forward-thinking researchers and practitioners from the Bay Area design community. Disc* graduates have a strong understanding of the present and future of global urbanization processes and a broad toolkit with which to tackle its most urgent demands.

Objectives Outcomes

Course Objectives: • Construct a project that bridges from conception to design and production.

- Design a product, artifact or intervention that affects environmental awareness or change.
- Identify the major debates around global urbanization.
- Understand the importance of user experience.
- Understand the issues of spatial scales and levels of intervention.
- Understand the potentials and dangers of design and technology interventions.

ENV DES 100 The City: Theories and Methods in Urban Studies 4 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2018, Summer 2017 8 Week Session, Spring 2017

This course is concerned with the study of cities. Focusing on great cities around the world - from Chicago to Los Angeles, from Rio to Shanghai, from Vienna to Cairo it covers of historical and contemporary patterns of urbanization and urbanism. Through these case studies, it introduces the key ideas, debates, and research genres of the interdisciplinary field of urban studies. In other words, this is simultaneously a "great cities" and "great theories" course. Its purpose is to train students in critical analysis of the socio-spatial formations of their lived world.

ENV DES 101A Writing about Environmental Design: Short Compositions 2 - 4 Units

Terms offered: Spring 2018, Spring 2017, Spring 2016

An intensive workshop for students interested in writing about architecture, landscape, and the built environment. Recognizing that undergraduate students who take this course represent departments outside as well as within the College of Environmental Design, assignments are touchstones for students of different disciplines to bring their current academic interests into play when writing about environmental design. Weekly assignments include prose readings, generally essays related to life experience. Brief readings and discussions during each class, along with weekly writing assignments of 3-5 pages of prose will illustrate the skills involved in the craft of writing. ENV DES 104 Design Frameworks 3 Units

Terms offered: Fall 2017, Fall 2016, Spring 1997

This course begins with an open-ended question ("What is design?") and asks students to think critically about the central tenets, commonalities, and limits of design in an ever-changing complex world. A historical and theoretical overview of predominant schools of thought across all scales of design (i.e. industrialization, modernism, post-modernism, and beyond) will ground the discussions to follow. Topics related to environmental sustainability including industrial ecologies, ecological design principles, lifecycle, biomimicry, LEED and accreditation systems, and closed-loop cycles will be presented.

ENV DES 107 Design and Difference 4 Units

Terms offered: Fall 2016

This course explores contemporary debates around race, gender, sexuality, disability rights and other forms of embodied politics and considers their potential to transform the normative assumptions and practices of the built environment disciplines. Concepts such as self-abstraction, assimilation, and discourses of the "universal" or neutral body will be examined critically in relation to socially situated theories of power, identity, and activism. The course will investigate case studies of everyday objects, buildings and urban space that exemplify the creative limits and possibilities of embodied difference in the design process. Weekly reading responses, class discussions, presentations, and a final project are required.

What is the social art of architecture in America? What was it historically, where is it now, where is it going--and why should you care? In this course, we will explore contemporary and historic attempts to confront social needs through themes: Design by Professionals (Architects, City Planners, Urban Designers, Sociologists, Philosophers, Philanthropists), and Design by Laypeople (Squatters, Intentional Communities, Do It Yourself). The objective is to discharge the false dualism that has emerged in architecture between social concerns and creative design.
